Company Experience

At TelOS-Labs, the core services and expertise offered are in Network & Telecom, Cyber Security, and Software Development.

TelOS Labs is an ICT engineering company based in Europe with a presence in the EU and US while their main operations center is based in Pristina Southeast Europe, from where they support their customers across the world. They have extensive experience in change management within the ICT services arena at all levels. They collaborate with contractors to augment their level 2-4 technical teams. They therefore can take an outsider's view of the business requirements and changes required in this difficult, demanding, and potentially hugely profitable period. In addition, they partner with many companies in the ICT space including Vendors in Enterprise and Carrier spaces.
